The vessel was waterlogged on the 17th of March and Mr Crocker and Mr Jones jumped overboard from the small boat and were lost. Captain Lowell with another boat rescued several Chinese, and was picked up on the 19th of March by the German brig Otto. Captain Lowell, D K Spedding, J H Crocker and H. BEN. BUTLER AS A WORKER.—The problem of Butlerism in Massachusetts bids fair to have a very simple solution if Ben Butler does not take more care of himself. He came very near dying last night from a frightful attack of the cone, brought on by overwork and serious exhaustion. Saturday and Sunday he worked sixteen hours, scarcely pausing to take a morsel of refreshment. A man cannot stand such high pressure. Butler has up to the present had magnificent health, but his physicians say they will not be responsible for the results if he persists in working in the future as he has in the past and does in the present. To all of which Mr Butler briefly says that when he has to cease work he is ready to die. This may be all very well, but it is hardly wise. Yet there are many people in the world who would be the last to urge him to stand back from anything that would place this very troublesome politician under the sod. Work! Work! I do not believe there is a man in the United States who is so active. In the first place, he is a man of immense wealth. So he has always the care of his numerous properties to look after. His legal business is gigantic in its proportions, and he manages to master its numerous details somehow. He took in the shape of fees last month, says an intimate friend of his, upward of $150,000. Then his numerous political cases and intriguing. Is it any wonder that he is overworked and bids fair to break down at an early day.—Wash Cor Pittsburgh Leader.

CRUEL OUTRAGE IN MARYLAND BY NEGROES.—A Baltimore dispatch of May 2d says: The city papers this morning publish accounts of a shocking outrage perpetrated by two negroes on a negro boy named James Henry Woodley, aged fifteen years, in Howard county, on the 18th of April. According to the boy's statement, the two men without provocation scarred and branded his limbs in a most cruel manner with a red hot iron and afterwards poured spirits of turpentine over his naked body and lower limbs and set him on fire. In this condition he escaped from his persecutors and succeeded in extinguishing the flames, though in what manner he is scarcely able to tell. Woodley now lies at the Lombard Street Infirmary in this city, his back and legs roasted to a crisp. His recovery is doubtful. It is reported that the men who committed the outrage have been arrested.

Mr Gladstone tells his private acquaintances that he regrets having given so many years to politics. "How little," said he the other day to an admirer, "do politics affect the life, the moral life of a nation. One single good book influences the people a vast deal more."

LETTER FROM NORTHWEST.

YONCALLA VALLEY—[illegible] MINERAL [illegible]

[FROM OUR TRAVELING CORRESPONDENT.]

SALEM, May 16, 1874.

When at Yoncalla on the [illegible] of the month one of the severest thunderstorms known in Southern Oregon for many years took place on the evening of that day. At 4 o'clock dark clouds began to cover the sky. In a short time rumbling thunder was heard. So it continued until about 6 o'clock, its violence seeming to be concentrated in and about the mountain heights of this beautiful valley, and so great that it seemed as if the whole artillery of heaven was opened up on the limited place. The flashes of lightning were as brilliant as the thunder was grand. After the thunder had seemingly spent its fury and the lightning exhausted its fire the rain came down in torrents and continued for hours. The following day the air was cool and pure.

THE YONCALLA MINERAL SPRING

In the Yoncalla Valley is one of great interest to persons seeking health. It is located on the line of the Oregon and California Railroad, two miles south of Drain station. The train reaches that point at 5 o'clock in the evening each day, from Portland, and returns at 7 the next morning, on its way from Roseburg to Portland. Mr C Snowden of Yoncalla, is the proprietor. He will afford visitors every facility to test its merits as a curative agent. They are welcome to camp on his grounds and use the water free of charge, or if preferred he can board in a plain cottage a few persons at moderate rates. Mrs Snowden is an excellent housekeeper and will make her guests comfortable. This mineral water has proved of great value in a number of reliable cases, such as rheumatism, neuralgia, fevers and general debility, diseases of the lungs, heart and bowels. Obstinate cases have been cured in four weeks and all who have given it a fair trial have been improved. The water is not pleasant to drink at first, but it soon becomes palatable. This mineral water is worthy of the attention of invalids and medical men. Mr Snowden has been offered considerable sums for the spring but declined them, expecting to do better.

THE SALEM FLOURING MILL

Is one of the industrial institutions that is a credit to the business capacity and enterprise of the proprietors and indicates the manufacturing facilities and resources of the State by means of its vast water power. The past season has been one of extended business and profit to this firm. They have ground 350,000 bushels of wheat into 80,000 barrels of flour and have shipped to foreign ports 350,000 bushels of wheat, making in all 700,000 bushels of wheat purchased of the harvest of 1873. They are preparing to build an additional warehouse at the mill with the view of purchasing and shipping more extensively the coming season than ever, and will probably make twice as much flour as last year.

OREGON WHEAT IN THE ENGLISH MARKET

The best practical test of the superior quality of Oregon wheat can be easily ascertained by a reference to the Mark Lane Express of April 20th, where the sale of 25 cargoes of wheat are reported. California wheat sold from 58s 3d to 62s per quarter. English wheat sold from 58s [illegible] to 59s 6d; while Oregon wheat sold at 64s 6d. That is 2s 6d per quarter better than the best California and 4s 7d higher than the best English wheat. This is from eight to thirty three cents a bushel for Oregon wheat above California wheat and from fourteen to twenty seven cents a bushel higher than English wheat.

If the farmers of Oregon cultivate the soil as it should be, feed it well with manure, give it reasonable rest, and clean their wheat properly for market, they have nothing to fear by competition or comparison with other States and nations. In due time they will be amply rewarded for their labor.

CALIFORNIA AND OREGON AS WHEAT PRODUCING STATES

Last year California, with a population of 700,000 people, raised 24,000,000 bushels of wheat. Oregon, with a population of 100,000, raised 6,000,000 bushels of wheat. This gives a yield of 34½ bushels of wheat raised in California for every man, woman and child, while it shows an average of 60 bushels raised for each man, woman and child in Oregon. Oregonians have good reasons to be grateful for the regular rains, the cheering sunshine, the beautiful climate, the rich soil, the inexhaustible water power and the vast resources of their State. Let their industry, energy, enterprise and good habits be equal to their facilities, opportunities and openings, and they will soon stand in the front rank of the producing States of the Pacific coast.

THE SIGNS OF THE TIMES

Are ominous for good among the farmers of the State. The union and co-operation among them through the medium of the Granges is working a grand revolution in favor of their harmonious action for their best interests. The social, moral, industrial and economical habits of the farmers have advanced rapidly during the last twelve months; the present is only the beginning of a grand future in favor of great progress in all these relations. Independence of thought and united action for their common good is the order of the day. Obstacles will be thrown in the way of this progress, but the marching orders are onward and forward. Onward and forward the farmers of Oregon are moving.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION

Is another of the signs of the times that is ominous for good in this State. The partisan politicians, the demagogues, the corruptionists and the selfish are rapidly coming down to their level and are trembling in their boots at the prospect of losing place, power and plunder. The order has gone forth from the high court of the people that in due time—that honesty, capability and patriotism are the qualifications of the men that the farmers of Oregon want to represent them in Congress, the Senate, the Legislature and the executive, as well as in the county offices. Only a few months since the movement of the people in this direction was derided and treated with ridicule, but the spontaneous uprising of the people in the South has extended north, east and west of the State so much so that the two old antagonistic parties are forced to enter into a temporary matrimonial alliance and embrace each other with apparent warm affection, with the hope of retaining and dividing the spoils and thereby defeating the people in their demands for the reformation of state and national abuses.

The Colonist of the [illegible] says: "The [illegible] California sailed this evening for Fort Wrangell with nearly [illegible] passengers, Oerkes and Mitchell's pack train and a full freight of goods. Passengers were everywhere—above deck, below deck, between decks, fore, aft, in the cabins, on the cabins, and even in the rigging were stalwart young men all bound for Cassiar to test the quality and richness of the diggings."

STILL MORE PARTICULARS ABOUT STATE RENTS.

SALEM, May [illegible]

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In your article in your paper of the 12th, under the head of "The Capitol Contract," [illegible] signed [illegible], [illegible] that may [illegible] to take some notice of it. I had intended to remain silent, and I will here remark that the article of which [illegible] complain, which appeared in your issue of the [illegible], was published without my knowledge or consent, as I have no pecuniary interest whatever in the Opera House block. But were I to remain silent and the article appearing on the 12th remain unexplained, a very false impression would prevail. I will now give you the facts in the premises.

Early in [illegible] I commenced building what is known as Reed's Opera House, the size of which was 60x100 feet and with three stories besides basement. This building I could have completed with my own means with the assistance of those interested with me. I had proceeded with this portion of the building to the roofing when the then Secretary of State, S L May, proposed that if I would extend the building to the alley 60 feet and finish it suitably for the State Department that he would rent the same for that purpose. I found I could borrow a sufficient sum of money to do this, whereupon I entered into the following contract: [The contract is simply a contract by Reed to furnish the Legislative Halls and offices for the State for $2000 a year—too long for insertion.—ED.] And immediately commenced the extension 61x75 feet, making the entire building 160 feet long by 60 feet wide at the east end and 75 feet at the west end, height three stories, 16 feet each. Thus far making the most ample room for the entire State Department, and nearly double in capacity the present occupancy. The two rooms at the head of the stairs, east end, [illegible]x22 feet each, Governor's and Treasurer's offices, and then House of Representatives 60x60 feet with gallery on three sides; next a room 50x60 feet, now used for stage, and next [illegible] rooms 24x24 feet for the Secretary of State's office, now the hotel parlor. Next a room 60x60 feet, [illegible]. Then three rooms 15x24 feet, eight feet committee room, all on the second floor of building. Now for the third story, coming to the front again, first a magnificent Hall 75x60 feet. Then the gallery of the House of Representatives. Then rooms over the stage. Then the room over the Secretary of State's office 22x28 feet, extended around over the stage 15x45 feet, all for State Library. Then room over Senate Chamber 60x60 feet for Supreme Court room. Last a room over the Committee rooms 15x45 feet, intended for Judges' consultation room. Making in all 13 rooms, larger and finer in every way than the ones now occupied, and all for the sum of $2000 per annum. And why was it that the State did not take these rooms under this contract? But, understand, they did take possession, for the Governor's office, Adjutant-General's office, State Library and Supreme Court were in the building for nearly a year. But why was not the balance of the Department moved over, and why was Mr Holman's building situated? Perhaps Mr Holman can explain about that $500 that was cancelled against May, and perhaps J. F. Miller can explain about the promise to May about being landlord of the Chemeketa Hotel. Perhaps that's what's the matter. At least I thus have it from May's own lips.

When I found that May refused to move his department into the building I was obliged to turn it to some other purpose, and I cut it up into a hotel, the additional cost of which, together with the cost of furnishing the same, was what hopelessly involved me. Had the State taken it in accordance with the contract I would have been all right.

When Secretary of State Chadwick came to power I took the May contract and went to him and tried to induce him to move (for recollect the library, court room and Governor's office were in the building), offering to take out the hotel partition at my own expense, and if he required it throw off $500 on the contract rent, reducing it to $1500 per year, and I will confess also that I did offer him something else in the building, for it was neck or nothing with me. The $1000 cash offer must have been construed on account of reduction of rent, for I was willing he should manage that to suit himself. I certainly had no money to offer him.

I do not think there is a stronger or more substantial building in the State than the Opera House block, and the cracking of the walls between the part put up first and that put up last is not more serious than usual in such cases. The strength of the building every way is above suspicion, as has frequently been tested by the crowded houses on such occasions as three Governors speaking there at one time, and any intimation as set forth by the writer "Facts" would reflect [illegible]. "Facts" would also convey the idea that money was paid without the building being occupied. He could just as well say that the State received no benefit from the rent paid Grover and Miller as he can on the $700 paid for the Opera House. The representations that it would have cost $2000 to have moved the State Department into the building must be false, for I offered to do it for one fourth of that sum, and when you take the cost of moving the Library and other offices out of the building, and the expense of fitting up the Grover and Miller building, there would have been a balance in favor of the Opera House on the score. (See Secretary of State's Reports.) Now let Mr Facts come out over his own signature, and I am prepared to prove all that I have here stated.

Yours truly, C. A. REED.

THE LOUISIANA FLOOD.—The New Orleans Republican, in estimating the approximate damages of the overflow in Louisiana, has carefully prepared a table which contains some interesting figures. The whole area of the State is [illegible] square miles, or about [illegible] acres. Of this amount one tenth are improved. There have been seventeen parishes more or less injured by the flood, comprising [illegible] acres, which produced [illegible] pounds of rice, [illegible] bales of cotton and [illegible] hogsheads of sugar, in addition to live stock and other farm products. Estimating the probable loss [illegible] as below, the Republican thinks [illegible] product. Thus on the crop [illegible]

Sugar [illegible]
Total [illegible]

[illegible] would give them $3,000,000 as the [illegible] loss [illegible] live stock, poultry, vegetables and other farm products. The extent of the immense loss [illegible] by high water [illegible].

KASSON DECLINES A RENOMINATION.

DES MOINES, May 18.—A letter is published this evening from John A. Kasson to [illegible], declining [illegible] renomination.

"I have [illegible] friends and [illegible] [illegible] will enter heartily into the work of [illegible], whether within or without the party [illegible] of the [illegible] will surely bring upon him. The time has come when a public office is more a burden than an honor. The only compensation for the burden to a competent officer must be the consciousness that the office has sought him, not he the office." The letter is a surprise to many Republicans about the Capitol, and by many is construed to be the farewell words to Republican fidelity. It has been known here for some time that Mr Kasson is disappointed with the Administration [illegible] and once has a suit upon Grant last winter [illegible] among the faithful. This is a conclusion of the final split in the Republican party in this District, and strong efforts are being made to consolidate the party and make a fight with the Anti Monopolists, which have become so numerous here the last year. Mr Kasson's desertion from the Republican party will greatly weaken the party in this District.

THE TERRITORIES.

Old Tacoma has 177 white men over 21 years of age.

The Fanny Morgan Phelps Dramatic Troupe play at Olympia to-night.

Half the length of the Olympia and Tenino Railroad has been graded.

Tumwater sent a delegation of 20 to work on the Olympia and Tenino Railroad on Tuesday last.

Passengers leaving Portland in the morning by a new arrangement reach Seattle at 11 P M the same day.

Several ladies of Olympia were out on Saturday last endeavoring to procure names to the temperance pledge.

Fifty Saints were cut off from the Mormon Church last week and turned over to the buffetings of Satan for refusing to turn over to Enoch and the Profit.

The train leaving Tacoma for Kalama last Saturday had fifty five passengers—the largest number ever carried by one train over the road north. Twenty came from the Stikine mines.

William Goodwin, of Logan, Cache valley, Utah, was cut off from the Mormon Church recently for keeping Gentile boarders, refusing to act as a home missionary and sending his children to the Episcopal school.

Who is Territorial Marshal? is a conundrum that now bothers the Saints and Gentiles of Utah. Gov. Woods nominated one man and the Legislature confirmed, or rather elected another. The question is before the Courts.

A letter from Washington brings the intelligence that the Supreme Court of the United States has just decided that the code practice in the Territories was right all the time, and the practice under the old equity system all wrong. The opinion will be printed in a few days.

Says the Olympia Courier of the 16th: The steamer Isabelle, Capt Daniel Morrison, returned to Victoria from Fort Wrangell last Wednesday morning, bringing nearly 100 passengers, most of whom had gone up on the same boat and learning discouraging news, evinced true wisdom in turning back. Many of these passengers came over on the North Pacific yesterday. They say the Stikine mines are the worst bilk ever gotten up on the Pacific coast; that hundreds of men are in the mines without a dollar or a pound of provisions, and that great suffering must consequently follow. There were fifty men at Wrangell unable to obtain passage down on the Isabelle and are waiting the return of the California.

SOUND NOTES.

A gentleman who has just arrived from the Sound gives us the following items of interest:

The new town or upper Tacoma grows every month.

The Railroad Co's new building, called "Headquarters," is a prominent edifice about 50x60, two stories, with central cupola. The branch railroad is graded into the upper town near this office. The passenger depot will be at this point, affording opportunity for another hotel. On this branch road the coal will be brought and dumped from the cars into the chute and thence into vessels without rehandling. This railroad affords, we suppose, the best means of transporting coal from the mine to the ship of any that can be furnished on the Sound. The railroad crosses a coal bed near Skookum Chuck. In the same bluff many veins have been found, some of them so high that coal can be dumped from tramways into the cars. Col Bee and other gentlemen from San Francisco are now examining the coal beds in that vicinity, probably in view of the transportation by the Olympia (proposed) railroad. The opening of coal mines along the Sound points to manufacturing and other productive industries. Iron is said to abound in the same region. Lumber, fish, coal and iron are worth more than gold mines or the same area of broad prairies. The mines of England have supported and enriched more people than five times the same area in farms could have done. Immigrants complain of the small proportion of our prairie or even of prime agricultural land. They decry the vast forests, speak derisively of the farmer in the small clearing on or near the Sound. But, tested by the real comforts and varied resources and reliable prospects, the man in the small clearing lives as well and prosperously as the man who depends solely on wheat or pasture lands. The woods are richer, which our mills prove, and which our furniture and wagon manufacturers are developing, and which shipbuilding will soon make more evident. A laboring gentleman at Tacoma says that a banker in San Francisco pledges funds to open this industry on the Sound. The call now is for American ships to freight our products to foreign ports. The time must be near for capital to engage earnestly in shipbuilding on the Sound.

The resident agent, Major G. B Hibbard, is awake to all the interests involved in the growth of the new town. On Saturday, in company with the school directors and teacher, he selected an eligible and fine site for a public school building and pledged the lots to the district. The plan is to organize a graded school system at once and to build so as to accommodate all the departments. This plan will draw and retain the best families.

THE INFLATION RECORD IN THE SENATE.

At the request of several readers, we publish the vote in the Senate on the Finance bill, commonly known as the bill to inflate the currency. The annexed list is taken from The Congressional Record of April 29.

The President pro tem.: The bill (S. No. 617) to fix the amount of United States notes and the circulation of national banks, and for other purposes, is now before the Senate, and the question is, shall the bill pass notwithstanding the objections of the President of the United States? Upon which question the Constitution requires that the yeas and nays shall be taken. Senators in favor of passing the bill notwithstanding the objections of the President of the United States will, as your names are called, answer yea; those opposed, nay; and the Secretary will call the roll.

Mr Morrill of Maine. On this question I am paired with the Senator from Indiana [Mr Morton], who if here would vote yea, and I should vote nay.

Mr Ransom. On this question I am paired with the Senator from Missouri [Mr Schurz].

THAT ASSESSMENT ROLL.

The Bulletin has been examining the assessment roll to find out whether the candidates on the Independent ticket for this county, pay sufficient taxes to entitle them to aspire to the offices to which they have been nominated, and it has discovered that Judge Strong pays no taxes in this county, and Mr. VanCleave pays but a small amount. From this the monopolists' organ reasons that those gentleman, if elected to the State Senate, would feel no interest in the question of taxation, and would squander the people's money. The way having been thus paved by the ring for general overhauling of the assessment roll of 1873—the last roll made—we here present the public with a few more facts which may set the people to thinking in another direction from that intended by the bribers' organ.

And, first, we will attract the attention to the amount of taxable property owned by Mr. J. N. Dolph, State Senator holding over, and one of the chief managers of the ring, and attorney of the railway companies. We take the following figures of Mr. Dolph's assessment from the roll:

Value of all taxable property		$26,150
Indebtedness deducted	$25,850
Exempt property	300
		26,150
		$000,000,000

Comment is unnecessary.

We will now proceed to an examination of the case of Mr. Sol. Hirsch, one of the ring candidates for Senator. It will be found that he pays a little more taxes than his opponent, Judge Strong. There are, however, some facts connected with his assessment which deserve particular attention. And in order that the case may be clearly understood, we are compelled to mention the names of certain other gentlemen, most of whom have lately been, or are at present more or less prominently before the people of Oregon.

The assessment against Mr. Sol. Hirsch shows no property of any description except a piece of land just north of this city assessed at $2,150. Then there are assessed to L. Fleischner & Co., a firm consisting of L. Fleischner, Sol. Hirsch and A. Schlussel, certains lots and blocks of land, amounting in all to $3,000. No personal property of any description is reported by these gentlemen. But the record of mortgages, (Book H.) shows a mortgage from L. F. Grover and wife to Sol. Hirsch, L. Fleischner and A. Schlussel composing the firm of L. Fleischner & Co., for $13,000 gold coin, executed July 1, 1872, and still unsatisfied. Why was not this $13,000 mortgage given in among their taxable property? And there is still another fact connected with this transaction that demands explanation even more than the mere failure to give in this property for taxation. This mortgage, as we said, was made on the 1st of July, 1872—nearly two years ago. But it was kept off the record till after the last year's assessment was made.

We wait for further remarks from the bribers' organ on the question of property qualifications for office.

THE RENTAL ACCOUNT.

Mr. C. A. Reed, who knows whereof he writes, gives the public through this morning's OREGONIAN, the full particulars of the contract between himself and ex-Secretary May, in regard to the rental of offices and rooms for State purposes. It appears that the contract provided for ample room, more in fact, than the State now has, for a great deal less money. Those who have spoken and written of the insufficiency of the Opera House for State purposes, have considered the question with reference to the present arrangement of that building; but the present arrangement was only determined upon as a means of making the building useful after the Secretary of State had "gone back on" his agreement with Reed; and it further appears that Reed offered to Secretary Chadwick, after he came into office, to rearrange the building at his own expense, if the State would go on and carry out its contract, or even if it would take the building at $500 per annum less than the original contract called for. It is difficult to see by what shift Messrs. Chadwick, Grover & Co. are going to get out of this ugly predicament in which they are left by this last and fullest explanation, which comes from a party who no longer has a dollar's interest in the Opera House.

MORE SWAMP LAND.

The Bulletin intimates that the editor of the OREGONIAN was one of the partners in Mr. Richard Williams' swamp land application. We were not so fortunate as to have any part in the transaction or any share of its fruits. If we had been, we should not have denied it, and forced out the proof as he has done.

So far as the mere charge that he was an applicant for swamp lands is concerned, we suppose there are few persons, if any, who would consider that he had not the right to take up the swamp land the law allowed him to take. At least we think so, and will demonstrate the sincerity of our declaration of this opinion by filing upon any eligible tract of that much coveted mud which shall be pointed out to us, provided we can raise the cash necessary to make the first payment as required by the law. But when we have got the swamp land in a lawful way, we shall not attempt to demagogue the people into a prejudice against somebody else because he also has taken a slice of the same pie, and then when our own slice is exhibited attempt to get out of it by telling a fib. That is the charge and the only charge to which any sensible person will attach importance against Mr. Williams in connection with this swamp land matter. Not that he has applied for swamp lands, for anybody might do so rightfully; but that, instead of avowing the act like a man, he tried to crawl out of it, and that at the sacrifice of truth.

The contest now going on between the railways of Wisconsin and the Executive of that State is watched with the most intense interest in every part of the Union where the question of the right of States to regulate fares and freights on railways is at issue. Governor Taylor's spirited proclamation, based on the opinion of the Attorney-General affirming the constitutionality of the law, has called out opinions from Wm. M. Evarts and Benjamin R. Curtis asserting the unconstitutionality of the act. Several companies continue in opposing the enforcement of the act. A Milwaukee special to the Chicago Tribune says all Conductors on the St. Paul road have been ordered to report to the Superintendent all cases of refusal to pay the Company's fare. Nineteen-twentieths of the tickets are sold at the Company's offices, and not a single refusal to pay the Company's rates of fare has yet been reported by the agents. The Conductors have met with ten refusals. Just what the Company proposes to do with those individuals who tender the rates established by the Potter bill, is not known.

When the average Congressman once makes up his mind not to vote on any given question, why he won't vote, and there's an end on't. We suppose that is the meaning of a little scene in the house at an evening session, a few days since. Some of the members chanced to be in a working humor, but there was no quorum present. So the Sergeant-at-Arms was sent to bring in the absentees, and in a short time a dozen gentlemen were brought to the bar of the House. When their names were called they declined to vote. They had been insulted—dragged into the Capitol like dogs, and they were not the men to submit tamely to an affront. Three times the roll was called, three times the House strove to propitiate their offended dignity, but in vain. The twelve average Congressmen sat and sulked. Then the House adjourned. Nice proceeding, that.

Good, inefficient Secretary Richardson is the victim of many a cruel joke. The latest was perpetrated at the time of his recent visit to the South, whither he went for his health. Some wicked newspaper correspondent started the story that the Secretary was incapacitated for the further discharge of his duties, by reason of some severe mental malady—name not known. This came to the ears of an energetic letter-writer, who at once telegraphed to his paper that Mr. Richardson was suffering from softening of the brain, brought on by excessive study of the financial problem. The N. Y. Times' Washington correspondent speaks rather vaguely of the latter story as "an absurd report."

The organ of the railway ring sneers at Mr. J. S. M. Van Cleave, Independent candidate for State Senator, because he is not a wealthy man. The tax-roll, it says, show that Mr. Van Cleave is poor, and it proceeds to argue that he has no right to expect to be honored with a seat in the Senate, when he pays but a small tax. This is probably the first time the monopolists have been so indiscreet as to make public, in an unguarded moment, their sentiment of contempt for a man who has not been engaged in swindles, such as have enriched the railway and Custom House ring, and who eats the bread of honest labor.

Senator Stewart, of Nevada, has introduced a bill abolishing the government of the District of Columbia, and providing for the appointment of a Board of Commissioners, to whom shall be entrusted the sole management of the affairs of the District. It may be that this would be an improvement on the present government, for a little while. If the bill had been introduced by some other Senator, it would have appeared to better advantage.

Five hundred laborers who have not yet been paid by the Ring contractors in the District of Columbia called on Delegate Chipman, a few days since, and asked him to see that their wages were paid by the General Government out of appropriations hereafter to be made.

On May 25th the Senate confirmed the nomination of Samuel Burdett, of Missouri, to be Commissioner of the General Land Office, vice Willis Drummond, resigned. The appointment takes effect January 1st, 1875.

PLATFORM.

Resolved, 1. That the compensation of Clerk and Sheriff of this county should be fixed salaries not exceeding, for the Sheriff, $5,000, and for the Clerk, $3,000 per year; that the law allowing fees to these officers, taxable against the county, should be repealed, and their other fees should be reduced to the rates allowed under the law of 1870, such fees (except mileage of Sheriff) to be collected by the respective officers and paid into the County Treasury; that each of these officers should be allowed such number of deputies as the County Court, consisting of the Judge and Commissioners, should determine to be necessary, and such deputies should be paid out of the County Treasury salaries not exceeding $100 per month each.

2. That there is no necessity for more than one Assessor, Treasurer, or tax collector, for the city and county, and the duties of each of these officers could be performed quite as well and more economically by a single officer, for both city and county, the compensation for such duties to be apportioned between the city and county, according to a fair estimate of the work required by each.

3. That the appropriation out of the County Treasury of moneys as salaries for jailor and janitor, is a violation of law and a disregard of the interests of the people of Multnomah county, and the candidates named by this Committee for Judge and Commissioners, are pledged, if elected, to discontinue such appropriations, as well as all others not necessary in the administration of county affairs.

4. That the Charter of Portland should be so amended as to make the Board of Police Commissioners consist of the Mayor of the city who should be the President of the Board, and two Commissioners, appointed by the Governor, and the Common Council should have power to fix the number of police officers by ordinance.

5. That we heartily approve of the exertions of our delegation in Congress in behalf of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake railroad; that we regard the building of said road as essential to the development of this city and State; and the candidates named by this Committee for the Legislature are instructed to secure, if possible, such legislation as shall give the right of way for said road through this State and to endeavor to secure the adoption of a memorial asking Congress to aid said road.

6. That there should be passed an efficient law providing for the registration of voters, to prevent frauds in election.

7. That the candidates named by this Committee for the Legislature are pledged to endeavor, if elected, to secure legislation in accordance with these resolutions, and to exercise and demand the most rigid economy in all departments of the public service, and to reduce taxation in every practicable way.

ARRIVAL OF MR. WM. REID.—Among th who are to arrive on the incoming ste will be Mr. Wm. Reid, American Vice C at Dundee, Scotland. This gentleman c an important business connected with probable investment of foreign capital b and is deputed by a number of leading Sc capitalists of Dundee to visit our State Washington Territory for the purpose of sonally inspecting the soil, climate, resou and various branches of industries purs
Mr. Reid is largely interested in the Sc Loan Association, and one of the principa jects of his visit at this time is to seek op tunities for the profitable investment of ca in this State. Prominent among the inv in business which brings Mr. Reid among is the proposed project of constructing a b across the Wallamet at this place. Some d ago we announced the fact that Edwin Rus Esq., of the Bank of British Columbia dressed a letter several months ago, to Mr. R making certain propositions in relation to construction of a bridge across the Walla at Portland. Mr. Reid wrote that he had c sidered the propositions very favorably, had conversed with a number of capita submitting to them the propositions. H forts, he stated, met with a degree of enco agement and success far beyond his most s guine expectations. In fact he met wit much encouragement that he was deputed them to come to Oregon on business prin ly connected with the enterprise. Mr. R writes that he holds in his hands a guara of sufficient funds for the construction of bridge. If satisfactory terms and condi can be effected, the work for this very im tant enterprise will commence at once.
will be a most excellent opportunity wh foreign capital can be invested in an en thrown in the way of such important here this evening.

A TRIP TO ENGLAND CONTEMPLATED.—
San Francisco Call of a late date says:

States has been made. As Donald can c connection, on his father's side, with northern part of Britain, he will probably a visit to the wilds of Sutherlandshire, county of the McKays, and learn to his prise, that that region is infinitely bleaker less habitable than even the lava beds which he ousted the Modocs. The old D of Sutherland, who compelled so many of people to emigrate, and around whose mem clusters an avalanche of Gaelic anathem bell apparatus attached, the thief very clev serted his hands into the drawer and drew the money. It is not known whether the b

BOUND OVER.—Mr. J. W. Carroll was yesterday before Justice Crich charged having broken a gong. At the time the or weeks ago, Carroll, it seems, became mixed in the general melee which followed. S person struck him over the head with a g

they were treated to something certainly r

FREIGHT COMING DOWN.—The steamer

freight, principally wheat. Large quanti of freight are also going up the river since grain is stored at Wallula and other po to bring it down very rapidly. Within next six or eight days there will be landed this city about 1,500 tons of grain from up Columbia.

LAST SHIPMENT.—Within one week

Burglary.—A burglar made an unsuccessful attempt to enter one of the rooms of the Portland Hotel last Saturday night Mrs Norton the landlady hearing the fellow endeavoring to hoist the window sash roused her husband In the meantime the thief, hearing the noise took the hint and made off before he could be caught On Saturday night some burglar entered the grocery store of Murphy & Kelly at the corner of Washington and Third streets and took away about $25 in coin The thief effected an entrance to the building through one of the back doors Finding that the drawer of the counter was locked and had the bell apparatus attached the thief very cleverly pried off a portion of the bottom He then inserted his hands into the drawer and drew out the money It is not known whether the burglar took away anything besides the money or not.

Bound Over.—Mr J W Carroll was tried yesterday before Justice Crich charged with having broken a gong At the time the crusaders visited the saloon of Mr Moffett some weeks ago Carroll it seems, became mixed up in the general melee which followed Some person struck him over the head with a gong whereupon Carroll retaliated by striking back and also breaking the gong to fragments under his feet For this he was arrested last week on the charge of Mr Moffett and the case came up yesterday afternoon for examination A number of witnesses were examined and the Court bound the defendant over to appear before the Grand Jury in the sum of $100 The prisoner refused to give bonds and was committed to the County Jail The case has elicited considerable comment pro and con

Pardoned Out.—Young Reynard the juvenile thief who stole the bird and cage from the residence of Gov Gibbs last Friday afternoon was tried in the Police Court on Saturday He was found guilty, and sentenced to the County Jail for the period of 30 days However on Sunday morning Judge Denny pardoned the young rogue out, and let him go His mother we learn pleaded as only a mother can plead for the graceless young hoodlum and asked for the interposition of judicial clemency in his behalf She promised the Judge that if he would pardon the boy she would send him out of the city and away from the contaminating influences of bad associates There are a number of young hoodlums and thieves in Portland whose parents ought to send them away

An Omission.—Yesterday we inadvertently omitted to mention the plaza concert given by the Portland Brass Band on last Saturday evening As there had been no attractions of the kind on the plaza since the 21d Infantry Band furnished our citizens with a feast of music, a great many visited the place, and they were treated to something certainly new with this band The programme consisted of six pieces, which were rendered in beautiful style, and many remarked the improvement made by the band The addition of reed instruments is an excellent one, and adds greatly to making the music sweet and harmonious We hope the members of the band will see proper to continue the concerts

Freight Coming Down.—The steamer O[illegible] has brought down last Saturday 220 tons of freight, principally wheat Large quantities of freight are also going up the river since navigation to Lewiston and intermediate points has been resumed Immense quantities of grain is stored at Wallula and other points along the river and the boats will soon begin to bring it down very rapidly Within the next six or eight days there will be landed in this city about 1 800 tons of grain from up the Columbia.

Last Shipment.—Within one week from date the last installment of castings included in the contract on the State Capitol will be shipped by the Willamette Iron Works to Salem This will complete the castings for the present year and it will require the entire summer and fall to bring the [illegible] carpenter work up to that stage [illegible] intended by the iron work The [illegible] castings included in the contract the [illegible] year will aggregate about 110 [illegible]

An Evening Crusade.—Shortly after [illegible] o'clock last evening the Crusaders [illegible] over thirty made a new move [illegible] saloons at that hour They visited [illegible] ment saloons on First street [illegible] were not admitted at any place [illegible] ed themselves by holding the usual [illegible] the pavement We presume the [illegible] sale will continue [illegible]

Electric Engine Co.—[illegible] stock company has been [illegible] requisite capital subscribed [illegible] name of the electric engine invented [illegible] E R Leonard of this city and an [illegible] about five horse power [illegible] brass will shortly be constructed [illegible] pany and its merits tested [illegible] weight of which will not exceed 100 pounds

Sent to Jail.—A Chinaman for stealing a lot of old iron and a man named F [illegible] for the larceny of a pair of boots were tried yesterday in Police Court and each [illegible] to the county jail for 30 days.

Will Arrive.—By a private note we learn that Madame F M Phe[illegible] troupe will arrive in Portland on Thursday evening and appear for the first time on next Saturday evening

The Astoria.—The boiler of the Astoria has been moved on board the tug and the finishing strokes are being added The boiler has been thoroughly overhauled and repaired and when finished will be as strong and serviceable as when first turned out from the shop The entire vessel has also been overhauled and repaired [illegible] Within a few weeks the [illegible] will be ready for service

Grand Lodge I O O F.—To-day the Grand Lodge I O O F of the State of Oregon will convene at [illegible] A M at the Odd Fellows Hall A number of delegates from all portions of the State arrived last evening The lodge will probably remain in session during most of the week Full reports of the proceedings will be published from day to day in the Oregonian

A COMPLETE FAILURE.

WOODARD WELL [illegible] AND CAPLES [illegible]

We have attended a good many political gatherings in Portland in our time of all kinds good bad and indifferent where the speakers failed to come and where they could not speak after they got there where the people were fired with enthusiasm and where they were cold as icebergs but never before did we witness a more signal failure than last evening at Armory Hall Yesterday afternoon posters were up and runners out announcing that a grand rally would take place at Armory Hall at 8 o clock that a "combination of monopolists" would be exposed by rousing speeches—Major Woodard and John F Caples being designated as the individuals who would expose things generally and monopolies in particular But for fear the posters and runners would fail to bring out the people the Portland Brass Band was engaged and at about 7 o clock began discoursing their most seductive and loudest strains in the street fronting the hall where the exposition was to take place Quite a crowd was drawn to the spot by the music, which was excellent and some very strenuous efforts were made to induce them to enter the hall but the gas was turned down low the benches were empty and no man could be induced to enter until the band was ordered inside and a portion of those gathered on the sidewalk followed filling the house about a third full Once inside things looked more promising, and no one dreamed that such an ignominious fizzle was to result from so much effort Talk about [illegible] staying at home we venture that every Republican in the audience last night wished that the speakers for the evening had pursued the same course for it would have been infinitely more to their credit and beneficial to their party But to the speaking Mr [illegible] introduced the speakers (By the way we missed the tall form and studied classic phrase that arrested the attention of the people and imposed silence in days of yore when the late Chairman of the County Republican Committee gracefully presented the speakers of the party to the listening throngs in other words Malarkey was not there and Mr [illegible] failed to assure us in his introductory remarks that "Old Multnomah will roll up her usual majority next first Monday in June" but simply said "Permit me to introduce Major Woodard who will address you")

The Major began by saying that he could see no impropriety in any candidate discussing any proposition upon which the people were divided and that in the discussion we should lay aside all prejudice and aim to arrive at the truth Now that was a very fair starter and excited about the only applause which the Major succeeded in bringing out during his remarks His beginning was fair but his speech which lasted twenty or twenty five minutes was not of that nature which is calculated to impress people change opinions or convince the judgment He utterly failed to expose any combination of monopolies or even allude in any way to monopolies of any kind whatever He made a part of Williams campaign speech that parties were not responsible for the acts of their members etc a proposition which the Major flatly contradicted by saying afterwards that parties were responsible He further stated that there were not three sides to any party question three sides to a lawsuit or three terms to a proposition were something he said were unknown This he also contradicted by reciting a short history of the times when the old Whig the Democratic and the Know Nothing parties were in existence and when the Republican the Union or the Bell and Everett and the Democratic parties were all alive and the causes which brought them into existence His illustration of the proposition that parties were not responsible for the acts of their members was very unfortunate as all of his hearers well know that if the officer of a corporation defaults the corporation is held responsible legally and would be held morally responsible were it to indorse the defaulter (See Albany resolution endorsing Hippler and result thereof in the refusal of the people to indorse the party) The Major as we thought had hardly got through his introductory remarks when he gave way for Caples who he said, would doubtless be able to greatly interest the audience

CAPLES [illegible]

Then mounted the rostrum with some difficulty owing to the fact that his throat was very sore In fact John F was not well himself but was mixed muddled befogged or tangled up in his ideas and his warmest admirers admitted that he was wretchedly ill On being introduced he experienced a regret that he was not allowed to make his speech without getting upon the rostrum but his introduction was the opposite of the Major's it was brief and pointless and he branched out at once in the broad assertion that every pledge which the Republican members of the last Legislature made to the people had been fulfilled (Here Mr. Congle, who was one of the members aforesaid applauded with considerable vehemence as did a few other persons) He said he and every other member of the Legislature from Multnomah county had fulfilled every pledge made to the people to the best of the ability of the people of this county that he had promised to secure the passage of a mechanic's lien law and read from the journal of the House to show that he had introduced a bill on the subject and voted for it but that it failed to become a law because the Senate stood eleven to eleven and when one side tried to vote it up the other eleven voted it down He then turned his attention to the police bill and litigant law and said the bills to repeal both the acts that passed [illegible] the House and [illegible] the Senate and he had always contended that Grover had held this position on this police bill Here Major Woodard and Mr [illegible] who sat on the platform near Mr Caples said that the audience were not disposed to hold their positions [illegible] [illegible]

ELISHA BAXTER

Phœbus what a name! And yet these seem to be the rhythmic syllables that flow from the brazen dart of Fame's sounding trump Elisha Baxter! It bulges upon a startled universe like a stridulous outburst from an unordained exhorter. Elisha Baxter! Mellow and mellifluous name! Billowy beautiful Baxter! Three times a day with a patriotism that knows no bounds and a zeal that knows no discretion, the sudden and unaccountable Baxter telegraphs to the President from Little Rock that grim visaged war is wrinkling up his front in Arkansas, and that various people of bellicose dispositions are mounting barbed steeds to fright the souls of fearful adversaries and incidentally hinder Elisha Baxter from exercising the functions of Governor and he asks aid in fact makes requisition for aid, to suppress the insurrection and prevent domestic violence. Receiving no reply, Elisha Baxter continuously and persistently harnesses the unhappy lightning to swift flying conundrums asking the President if he has received the other dispatches, till the President of the United States, to whom the signature has become a horrid nightmare, exclaims 'Is there—is there no rest from Elisha Baxter?' Still the tired lightning drags the unfilled requisition, still the signature of Elisha Baxter bumps the poles from Little Rock to Washington

Well, who is Elisha Baxter? From the length and frequency and persistency of his dispatches to Washington, he is certainly not the author of any Saint's Rest, though by the same token he seems to be the author of the Call to the Unconverted If we get the drift of his dispatches, he either is, or means to be the Governor of Arkansas. A long time ago, ever and ever so long, in that far time when the people believed the re-election of General Grant would promote the reform of the Civil Service, give stability to the finances, lead to the speedy resumption of Specie payments, bring peace and good government to the South, insure honesty and economy in administration, and reduce the National debt, in the far-away time when people indulged in these hallucinations, we are told that Elisha Baxter was dragged from the private station which was then, and has been ever since, the post of honor, and nominated for Governor by the friends of freedom Elisha Baxter was reluctant, but the friends of freedom, many of whom had deliberately thrown up a lucrative practice behind the bar in order to throw themselves into the ranks of freedom's hosts as sutlers and cotton-brokers, demanded the sacrifice, and he consented

Elisha Baxter we understand to be one of those noble souls whose generous dispositions make them the prey of the pocket-book dropper and the confidence man Should anybody hand Elisha Baxter a pocket-book full of bills, even of a small denomination, with the remark that he had been seen to drop it, Elisha Baxter is not the man to stand on a street corner and by disputing the statement invite domestic disturbance Elisha Baxter is the sort of a man who would pay the finder a reasonable reward and take the pocket-book. That is the kind of a man, if we judge him correctly, that Elisha Baxter is. So when, after the votes had been counted in Arkansas, and it was found that by leaving out the returns from two or three counties where the enemies of mankind had given adverse majorities, and changing a few figures in others in the interests of humanity, Elisha Baxter was elected. Elisha Baxter was not the man to go behind the returns or make any factious opposition to being inaugurated! The friends of freedom, among whom were United States Senators, Chief Justices, and editors of newspapers, said the cause demanded that he should be inaugurated just the same as though he had been elected, and English Baxter said he would not stand in the way of Freedom's battle once begun. So they inaugurated him

Subsequently a man named Brooks discovered some errors in the count, and some omissions of ballots that had been cast by a wicked and perverse generation in the back countries who never had enlisted in the cause of freedom and did not know the difference between a sutler's wagon and a faro bank The foes of human progress and of Elisha Baxter said Brooks was elected Governor, and tried to have an investigation Elisha Baxter rose up, lazily winked his sinister eye, and remarked, 'Possession is nine p'ints,' and "No mistakes rectified after the parties have left the bank" And so Elisha Baxter held on like a friend of freedom and a brother-in-law Brooks finally got a decision of some sort of a court in his favor, and the other day walked into the Executive Chamber and ordered Elisha Baxter to get out Elisha Baxter is a man of peace, he went out Brooks immediately began to use the great seal, and Elisha Baxter began to use the telegraph. Elisha Baxter telegraphed the President that there was a state of war, and the army and navy ought to be sent to Little Rock at once, or somebody would be hurt Then he telegraphed to know if the President had received the message, and immediately afterward to know if the army and navy were coming If we are correctly informed, he is still telegraphing, and the President is up to his ears in Elisha Baxter's telegrams

This is the true story of Elisha Baxter. He means well. But we take leave to say that if he knows, as he must, that President Grant has already two States on his hands—to-wit, Louisiana and South Carolina, in one of which he has interfered and in the other refused to interfere—Elisha Baxter is pushing the matter too far in unloading Arkansas upon him. Elisha Baxter is a patriot no doubt, and beyond question a friend of freedom, but we submit that he is telegraphing too frequently and at too great length. Cease, Elisha Baxter Elisha Baxter, give us a rest.—N Y Tribune

HEART DISEASE

In the course of a lecture recently delivered in New York, Dr Lyman said: "Heart disease, among both ladies and gentlemen, is the one most in vogue at present A synonym for pseudo heart disease is indigestion. False modes of dresses, by crowding the heart causing it to beat irregularly Remedy the dress and the heart will healthfully perform its functions The heart is almost the last organ to become diseased, because it has a great work to do Nature made it strong and supplied it with as few nerves as possible Women who faint as a rule have too small cavities for heart and lungs Fainting is a provision of nature for the reinstatement of the body by allowing the heart a brief respite When the stomach is unduly distended by food, the heart is crowded and complains Good straight shoulders are highly essential to women If she possesses an erect form, a woman's heart has a better opportunity to beat evenly and healthfully

Many mistake a palpitating sensation of the muscular wall of that portion of the stomach nearest the heart for an affection of the heart Adipose or fatty accumulation around the heart will often render its beat labored or heavy. The heart is not, however, diseased it is only working under difficulties Prostration also affects the beating of the heart, causing it to pulsate more rapidly Strength will remove this difficulty It is a theory with some physicians that in a natural life the heart beats only a given number of times If this be so, running up and down stairs, intense excitement, hurry by increasing the number of heart beats in a minute, diminish the length of one's life It is a well known fact that a race horse is not long lived, because, having such a demand made upon the action of its heart the heart muscles wear out sooner than they otherwise would

The following colloquy occurred in an English divorce suit Sergeant Tindal—He treated her very kindly did he not? Atkinson—Oh yes very he kissed her several times. Sergeant Tindal And how did she treat him Atkinson—Well she retaliated.

Our advices from the East indicate a state of harassing uncertainty as to the action of Congress on finances as still existing. There is a feeling of disappointment that all attempts of the legislative power of the country to restore activity to trade so signally failed. The Chicago Journal of Commerce says the fate of the currency bill is by prolonging the suspense created a renewed lack of confidence. Almost daily was said If Congress would only do one or the other either give us inflated currency or settle on the other policy This was said daily by men in favor of and against inflation Neither the passage of the bill as it was framed nor its veto by the President seems to have produced any other effect than to increase the uncertainty of what the future policy is to be The actual situation is wholly unchanged Gold advanced after the veto but the doubt in regard to the currency bill actually giving the country any more currency renders it doubtful which way to attribute the advance—to the rejection of a more currency bill or a no more currency bill, If there is to be such a thing as coming down to hard pan the people want to know it—know in what way and by what means it can and will be done Suspense and uncertainty are great demoralizers to trade until something is done that ends such a state of affairs there will be likely to be little improvement in the trade.

In our home market as well as generally throughout the Pacific coast the questions which so extensively disturb the commercial and financial interests of the East have comparatively a much diminished effect and the condition of affairs remains quite devoid of subject matter for comment At the commercial centers west of the Rocky mountains a very fair supply of money at reduced rates to borrowers is accessible according to all reports and with the present healthy condition of trade the abundant crop prospects and the indications of a prosperous mining season our position is certainly better in the possession of a reasonable degree of confidence as to the results of the future than the average of the country at large Ship Building.

The Chester (Penn) Evening News says of the proposal of the Pacific Mail Company to construct nine new iron steamers that at least five of them will be built at the yard of Roach & Co in Chester so that Mr Edward Faron the company's superintending Engineer, who constructed the models of the City of Peking and City of Yedo has just finished the models for two of the new vessels referred to The new steamers will have the following dimensions Two vessels, each 421 feet long 41 feet broad 34 feet depth of hold three vessels each [illegible] feet long 38 feet broad and 26 feet deep four vessels 200 feet in length 34 feet beam and 17 feet depth of hold All will be built under the rules of the Bureau Veritas which are more particular than those of Lloyd's and rating higher'

The construction of steamers for the Pacific Mail Company has done much to develop the iron ship building interests of the country In this connection the report of Chief Engineer Shock of the United States Navy on iron ship building in Great Britain, to Congress, is of interest The Engineer visited the large ship yards on the Clyde, the Tyne and at Belfast, and says

That Great Britain builds the commercial shipping of the world must be conceded and in her fostering care of this immense interest she is creating (indirectly, it is true) grand naval constructing yards and educating regiments of skilled mechanics adding to the nation's wealth in time of peace and to be utilized in building navy ships in time of war Great Britain possesses no natural advantages for the construction of iron ships that are not possessed by the United States in a greater degree. Our coal and iron are inexhaustible of superior quality and easy of access Our great fresh water streams are connected in all directions by rail with our coal and iron regions and when we shall have educated our workmen by actual practice in this (to them) comparatively new branch of mechanical industry, I know of no reason why we could not in a short time successfully compete with Great Britain share the pecuniary advantages growing out of this great interest and build up for the nation's use in time of war a number of constructing yards with their corps of skilled workmen whose value and importance to the Government cannot be fully appreciated from a peace standpoint.

Trade with the Islands.

Our trade relations with the Sandwich Islands are already quite important and constantly augmenting Latest advices from Honolulu giving statistics of the first quarter of 1874 show that domestic exports from the Hawaiian Kingdom compare with the same period of 1873 as follows

	First quarter 1873	First quarter 1874
Sugar lbs	[illegible]	[illegible]
Molasses galls	1 076	18 [illegible]
Rice lbs	17[illegible] 690	208,3[illegible]0
Coffee lbs	42 060	1[illegible] 5[illegible]4
Pulu lbs	29,[illegible]	2 964
Whale Oil galls	11 786
Sperm Oil galls	5[illegible]2

The total value of all domestic exports from the Kingdom, during the first quarter of 1874 was $282 260 76 against $343 668 11 showing a falling off this year of $61 407 35 This difference it is asserted, does not arise from any actual decrease in domestic products but from the fact that vessels have not been there to take off produce as fast as it arrived at shipping ports Honolulu warehouses are said to be crowded with articles of export and the quantity of sugar pulu rice etc in store there exceeds that of any period for months The falling off has been principally in coffees and oils of which articles the supply is shorter than usual

With the completion of direct railroad communication with the East our trade with these Islands will become a leading feature of our commerce

Miscellaneous.

The National Millers Association is to hold a Convention at St Louis on June 3d The objects of the Association are the advancement of the flouring interests of America, the framing of rules for preventing the counterfeiting of brands the consideration of freight charges and taking such action as shall insure more milling and less shipping away of Wheat

Four-tenths of the Wheat harvested in the United States is fall sown The spring wheat territory includes practically the six Eastern States four North western and those of the Pacific coast The former are of little importance in production and the latter are not properly included in either list sowing being continued from fall to spring in California and in winter and spring in Oregon

The estimates of the Agricultural Bureau at Washington, place the increased product of Wheat by drilling instead of sowing broadcast at from 10 to 21 per cent. In Oregon 19 100 of all the Wheat planted is drilled In Illinois 75 100.

Groceries.

Since our last quotations in this branch of trade but few important changes have occurred. Business has been fairly active and stocks are being replenished to meet the demand In coffees a reduction of [illegible] cents ₽ lb is noted but in jobbing lots the market is firmly sustained at [illegible] cents for Costa Rica and the same for Guatemala There is no Rio in the market

Syrups have also declined materially, being quotable in bbls at 35@37½ cents ₽ gallon in half barrels 37½@40 cents in kegs 45 a[illegible] cents Cod fish is ½ cent lower quotable at 8@9 cents Raisins new crop also [illegible] cents per box lower at $4 50 Rice is rather in more limited supply, and rates have advanced to 7½@8c ₽ lb for China and 8½@9c for Island The salmon of last year's catch is exhausted and there is none in half barrels in the market The quantity salted this season will be small owing to the increased demand for canning Coal oil of all brands is [illegible] lower than at our last report

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship Ajax will be due from San Francisco to-morrow evening

The bark Palestine Callao has completed her cargo of grain and gone down the river

The bark Ceylon is now receiving wheat at Flanders wharf

The barks Royal and Melancthon are about ready to go to sea having completed their cargoes of lumber at the North Portland Mills
